- The diagram illustrates three rows of memory allocation and pointer manipulation. Each row consists of a pointer (represented by a small rectangle) and a data array (represented by a larger rectangle). The arrays are composed of smaller blocks, each represented by a small square.
- Row 1: A pointer points to a 10-block array. Another pointer points to a 5-block array.
 - Row 2: A pointer points to a 20-block array. Another pointer points to a 5-block array.
 - Row 3: A pointer points to a 10-block array. Another pointer points to a 20-block array.
